Waveland granted improved fire insurance classification

BY DENA BISNETTE

A new rating for the Waveland Fire Department is expected to bring the cost of fire insurance down for some residents.

Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia said Friday that the fire department has had its rating upgraded from class seven to six by the Mississippi State Rating Bureau.

"The lower the number, the better the insurance rates are," Garcia stated.

He explained that when Waveland achieved the seven rating in 1986, residents with brick veneer homes were probably the largest group for whom insurance costs were reduced. The class six affects mostly residents with wood frame homes.

Whether an individual policy will actually be affected depends not only on type of construction, but whether the building is occupied and how exposed it is to adjacent buildings.

Before publicly announcing the upgraded rating, which became effective Feb. 1, the department sent letters to local insurance carriers to inform them of the change.

"The insurance people should know about it now, so it is time for individual homeowners to start contacting them about changing their policies," he stated.

The fire chief said he was particularly pleased to have his department reclassified because he and his staff, in cooperation with Waveland's water and gas department, began working on the class seven as soon as the six was approved.

In order to obtain the class seven, Waveland had to add personnel to its fire department and now has two firefighters manning both its stations at all times, Garcia said.

Waveland is the only paid fire department in the county that has two full-time stations, making service possible even if part of the city is cut off by a train when an emergency occurs.

In addition, the department now has two training officers who conduct monthly sessions for all personnel; and has also acquired more training materials. A maze for training firefighters in use of self-contained breathing apparatus, a fire extinguisher pit, a knot proficiency table and two classrooms have also provided more training opportunities.

Garcia said a tower and a drafting pit are also under construction.

Part of the availability of additional training was due to expansion of facilities, when Station No. 2 on Gulfside Drive was renovated and a 1,824-square-foot upstairs section was added.

A new pumper truck was acquired a few months ago to upgrade the station's equipment to class six specifications and a rotating maintenance schedule has been established for all of the department vehicles, ranging from the largest pumper to the salvage and overhaul unit, the chief added.

Because the department is required to keep 56 different kinds of reports in order to maintain a six rating, the department's office has been computerized.

Garcia stated that he is particularly grateful to Charlie Bourgeois, head of the utilities department, and his crew.

Meeting to address taxes, economic impact on area

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Two Bay St. Louis businessmen are interested in increasing public awareness as to the state of our local economy.

The duo has set a Wednesday, 7 p.m., meeting at the Mississippi Power Company's conference room, Dunbar Avenue.

The organizers of the meeting are Robert Kane, realtor, and Ames Kergosien, insurance, realtor/appraiser.

Kane and Kergosien report they have been gathering statistics in recent weeks and will give them out during the meeting.

"Basically, we are trying to create public awareness as to the state of the local economy and its impact by ad valorem taxes," Kergosien said.

Kane added, "Our school budget has drastically expanded, yet, our standardized and ACT test scores have steadily declined in recent years."

The operating budget has grown from about $4.5 million in 1986 to approximately $8.8 million for 1990.

"In 1987, 1988 and 1989 the Bay-Waveland School District's ACT scores fell. In 1989 the district's was well below the state's average of 15.9," Kane stated.

Kane's and Kergosien's research revealed that ad valorem taxes have gone up 83% from 1984 to 1989.

Waveland man indicted on manslaughter charge

BY DENA BISNETTE

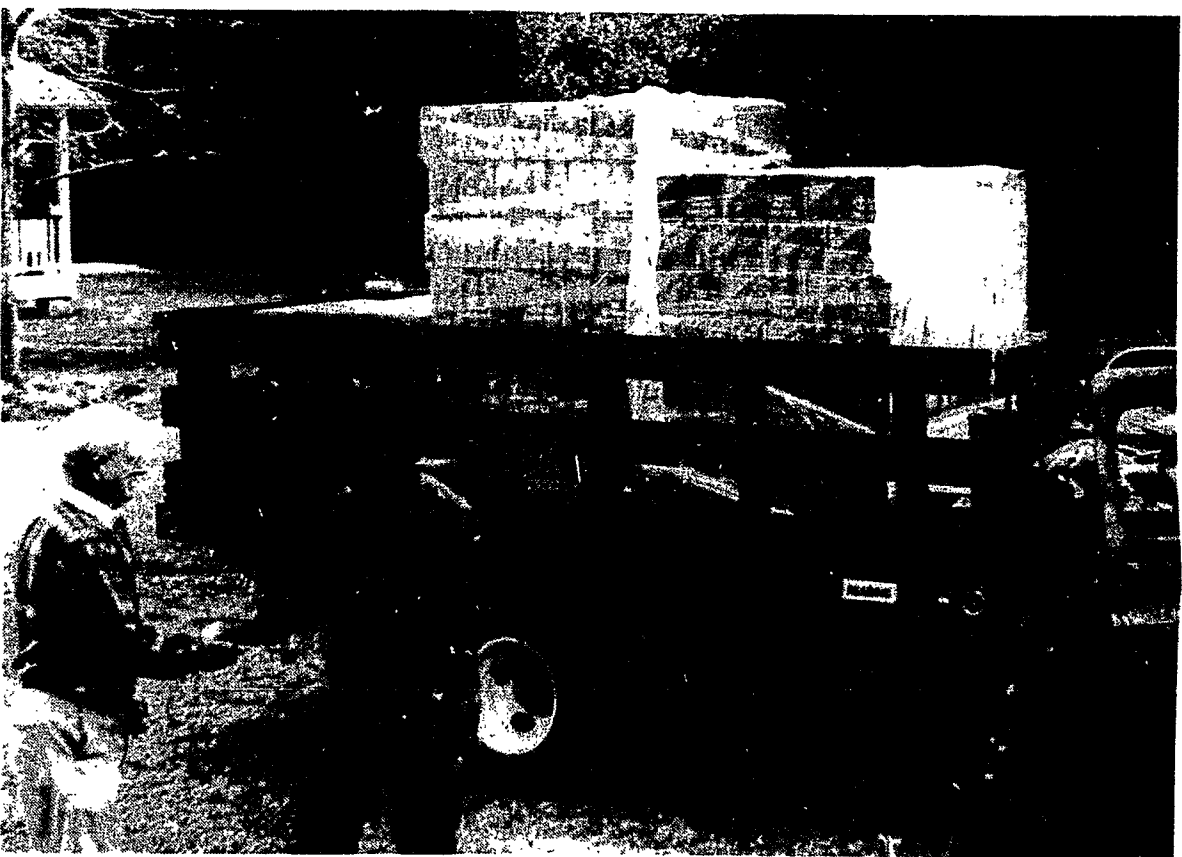

Hancock County authorities have arrested a Waveland man in connection with a death that occurred during an auto accident.

Mark Kidd, 23, of 416 Jeff Davis Avenue, was charged with manslaughter in an indictment handed down by the January 1990 Grand Jury, Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda stated.

Kidd was arrested Thursday when he was served with the indictment and was later released on $5,000 bond.

According to Hoda, Kidd was involved in a high-speed auto chase on Nov. 30, 1989, which resulted in a one-vehicle accident.

The person who died in that accident was identified as Christopher Bell, the investigator added.

Child drowns in bayou

BY DENA BISNETTE

Authorities investigating the drowning death of a two-year-old child say the youngster apparently wandered out of a house and fell into a bayou.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson stated that the Thursday death of Michaela Lindsey, 2, is being handled as an accident.

Her mother, Deborah Lindsey, telephoned the sheriff's department at about 3:30 p.m.

and said the child had been missing from a Shoreline Park residence for about 20 minutes. She and her daughter had been visiting relatives on Teal Street.

Deputies Matt Karl and Bill Pepperman and Auxiliary Deputy Sam Necaise were sent to help look for the toddler, Peterson stated.

When they arrived, they found that a neighbor, Danny White, had been assisting in the search and had already found the two-year-old in a bayou behind 4128 Teal Street, he added. She was floating face down a few feet from the shore.

White, of Robin Street, was checking a vacant house nearby to see if the child had gone there and looked off the back porch to find her in the water.

Karl performed CPR on the child until Mobile Medic Ambulance personnel arrived and transported her to Hancock Medical Center, where she was pronounced dead.

Also responding was Waveland Fire Department's rescue unit.

Nereids to roll today

BY JANET MCQUEFN

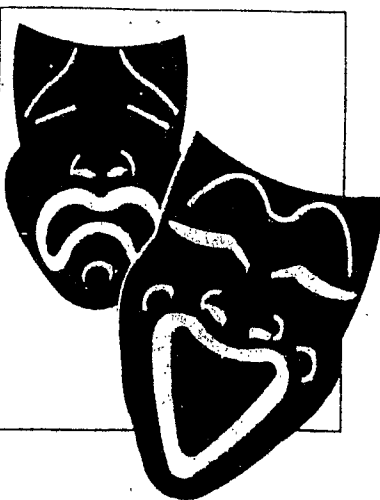

The Krewe of Nereids 24th annual parade will roll in Waveland this afternoon, portraying the theme "Nereids Visits Oz."

More than 100 entries will include the marching bands of Bay Senior High School, St. Stanislaus, Hancock North Central, Pearl River Community College and Mercy Cross; the award-winning Mississippi All-Stars baton twirlers; and marching groups from St. Clare and Bay Catholic Elementary Schools.

The parade will begin at Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center, traveling east to the Bay St. Louis line, where it will u-turn west, disbanding at Our Shopping Center, Waveland.

Mardi Gras comes to Diamondhead Saturday, Feb. 24 when "Children's Stories" will be depicted by the Diamondhead Land Parade beginning at noon at the Country Club. Decorated golf carts, floats, marching groups and bands will be featured.

St. Paul Carnival Association will sponsor "Parading the Past" next Sunday in their annual trek across the city. Grand marshals will be 1953 King Dr. Charles D. Taylor and 1935 Queen Ione Russell.

The Krewe of Real People will take to the streets on Mardi Gras Day, Feb. 27 in downtown Bay St. Louis.

Several elementary schools also have Mardi Gras activities next Friday including:

—Headstart Center, parade in Bay St. Louis at 9:30 a.m.;

—Coast Episcopal, parade on the school grounds at 10 a.m.;

—Bay Catholic, parade in downtown Bay St. Louis, at 1 p.m.;

—North Bay, kindergarten parade in front of the school, Friday afternoon, and mini-float parade;

—Waveland Elementary, mini-float parade, 1:30 p.m. Additional details will be available in Thursday's Sea Coast Echo.

Three arrested in two break-ins

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two break-ins within a week at properties across a bayou from one another have been found to be related and three arrests have been made.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda said one break-in occurred Feb. 4 or 5 at a farm on Bayou LaCroix Road, when someone pried the lock off the entrance gate and broke into two houses on the property. The homeowners were Michael White and Terry White.

A relative, Hunter White, who lives across the bayou, had found that someone had broken into his home about a week earlier.

Hoda said one of three Honda three-wheelers that were stolen helped lead Louisiana authorities to one of the people charged in the crimes.

Richard Cuss, 27, of Shoreline Park, was arrested on Feb. 10 by St. Tammany Sheriff's Department personnel, who told Hoda they caught him riding.

Taxes

tax figures show the combined taxes collected in Bay St. Louis and Waveland for 1986 compared to 1989 have decreased by $38,000.

The duo emphasized the plight of the local economy has also been affected by the decline in sales of single-family residential dwellings.

Sales for single residential properties in 1988 amounted to $5,915,038 and dropped in 1989 to only $3,646,643.

"We wonder if our political leaders are aware of the facts and the severe current conditions and how the people have reached over their limit in taxes," they said.

Several elected officials, who have already been contacted by Kane and Kergosien, indicated they will attend Wednesday's meeting.

Kergosien emphasized, "We know there are some things we cannot do anything about, such as the economy, but, hopefully through the cooperation of our political leaders and citizens, some solutions can be found to help with the tax burdens."

"We are not looking for a witch hunt, all we will be seeking are positive factors to help improve our local economy and educational standards," Kane said.

ON ETV

AMERICAN FOOD

Mississippi ETV serves up a healthy slice of American food culture on the next "Smithsonian World" special at 9 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 21.

"A Moveable Feast" is a lively tour of American food—and a portrait of the Pilgrims, the Harvey Girls, McDonald's franchises, power restaurants and new traditionalists who have made American food so colorful and diverse through the years.

The hour-long program depicts 17th-century Pilgrims who learned to adapt to the bounty of their new land, 19th-century railroads that radically altered food distribution and 20th-century "quick service units" as well as the groundbreaking "back-to-basics" revolution spearheaded by chef

Alice Waters.

The program visits three busy food establishments: Water's Chez Panisse restaurant in California; the kitchen of the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado and the world-famous 21 Club in New York.

BLACK HISTORY

In celebration of Black History Month, Mississippi ETV will present a 90-minute teleconference featuring African-American role models beginning at noon, Wednesday, Feb. 21.

improved to a class six without them, because there were a lot of improvements in the water system that were required," Garcia explained.

Mayor John Longo Jr. said, "I'm grateful to and proud of Chief Garcia, because I know he's dedicated to the department and to public service."

The mayor added that with a new water well the city is planning to build, he has hopes of eventually obtaining a rating of five.

In the meantime, he believes that having the highest rating of any of the county's three paid fire departments is going to help foster economic development in Waveland.

Longo said he plans to contact some of the larger businesses about the class six personally.

"It's going to mean thousands of dollars in saving to several of them," the mayor stated.

The mayor added that all of the fire department improvements had been made without changing the city's tax structure. Some of them, such as the addition to the Station No. 2 building and training facility, were done by firefighters themselves and other city workers, saving the city the cost of contracting for the work.

Although one of the suggestions made at a Wednesday night intergovernmental meeting to discuss consolidation involved consolidating fire department dispatching, Longo said achievement of the class six has put consideration of that action "on the back burner."

He said he felt consolidation with departments with lower ratings would not be a practical move at this time.

ing one of the vehicles. Hoda said Cuss was brought back to Mississippi and charged with burglary and grand larceny.

Also arrested was Brian Downey, another Shoreline Park resident, who was picked up by New Orleans police officers on a warrant from Hancock County. He was also charged with burglary and grand larceny, Hoda said, and was scheduled to be returned to Mississippi late Friday.

Hoda stated that the third person who was arrested was David Skinner, 25, of Shoreline Park, who was charged with burglary only.

Cuss was released on $10,000 bond and Skinner was released on $5,000 bond. Bond had not yet been set for Downey Friday.

Hoda added that the three-wheelers and most of the other property stolen in the break-ins were recovered.

American customs go to Russia: two of them weren't needed

Lately, I've heard several reports about Russians adopting some unimportant American customs, like eating McDonald's burgers and staging beauty pageants.

Where Ronald McDonald sets up his house is, up to the corporation. The first international McDonald's I remember hearing about was in Tokyo, Japan, where my college roommate Junko Kobayashi lives.

I see a potential for profit in a city where, as Junko put it once, "There is no place where a man parachuting out of an airplane could land without landing on people."

But I'm sure I'd think twice about putting a McDonald's in Moscow, even with perestroika and glasnost and Gorbachev. Gorbys might have money for a Big Mac but who else does?

I saw a "Frontline" program recently; it featured the first Miss U.S.S.R. beauty pageant. None of the contestants, and for that matter anybody else in the program, could probably afford even a small order of fries.

McDonald's Moscow might do some business with foreign visitors who dislike Russian food and might even set up a second location, but I can't see a beauty pageant as being something the Soviet Union will try again any time soon.

First, I was astounded to find out that there are actually Russian fashion designers and professional models.

The fashions they showed on "Frontline" looked like evening wear, black trimmed with metallic gold. The women wearing them were young and beautiful, not starved-looking like our models.

The outfits, though, looked like they were designed for Darth Vader's female sidekick, whose scene was omitted from "Star Wars" due to an atrocious wardrobe. If I had to wear that, I'd say, "Forget it."

The Miss U.S.S.R. contest included a "super models" competition. Why would any woman want to be a model in a country where contestants complained that it takes a month's pay to buy a bra and panties, if you can find them?

One competitor was a graduate of the Institute of Industrial Mechanics, something still considered highly unusual for a woman in this country, and maybe she's tired of working in the factory.

Maybe she's just tired of going without any underwear.

Maybe the pageant was a way to make black market connections. When a financial backer disappeared at the last minute, bathing suits had to be found.

The narrator of the program said someone had found a bald man with a briefcase full of bathing suits. No other explanation was offered. If he wasn't into black market merchandising, why did he try to hide his face from the camera?

The make-up being used had English writing on the labels and the women seemed unaccustomed to it. One contestant commented that it smelled horrible. Not being fond of the stuff myself, I agreed.

Some people consider me a radical feminist just because I say women should have equal pay for whatever work they do, and that they have a right to work any field in which they're competent, whether it's a traditionally male field or not.

In Russia, that's a very normal attitude. The only problem, according to "Frontline", is that Russian men don't help with child care or household chores.

That's why I don't think Russia should fool with beauty pageants. We're talking about women who work all day, whether it's an assembly line job in a Volvo factory, clerical work, or stringing telephone wires in downtown Moscow.

Then she's got to go home, cook meals, take care of children, do laundry and wait hand and foot on a husband who has also been working all day and doesn't even know he's a male chauvinist pig.

Where will she find the time to look like a Sports Illustrated swimsuit model? And, if underwear costs a month's pay, what's the price of a tube of mascara?

I think something would have to go. And, personally, if I were working that hard, I'd dispense with the mascara and the bathing suit.

I'd save my cash and then find the bald guy to see if he'd sell me some underwear. No one would see it, but at least I'd be comfortable.

Single parent myths

Even though single parents are increasing in number, negative myths still surround their ability to be good parents. Single parents and the people they deal with could benefit from a more realistic picture of single parenting.

Many single-parent families thrive. This destroys the first myth, that single-parent homes are broken homes.

Single-parent homes are not broken; they are new and different homes. Often they are homes with less tension and stress than those where conflict is unresolved and bitter.

A second myth assumes children living in single-parent homes tend to have more emotional or behavioral problems. This is a tricky issue because studies do not link behavior problems to the number of parents but rather to other stressors placed on single-parent homes that may cause behavioral problems.

A study in Great Britain found economic hardships in single-parent homes had the greatest effect on the child's life. When single-parent and two-parent families with similar incomes were compared, the differences in children's behavior were small.

A third myth involves the child's need for a parent of the same sex in order to develop a healthy sexual identity.

How a child forms a sexual identity is not fully understood. While several theories disagree about the amount of influence parents have on children in this respect, all theories agree that a child needs contact with adult members of both sexes.

This does not mean that immediately after a divorce a single parent must develop a relationship with a member of the opposite sex.

There are many ways to provide a child with adults of like and opposite sexes. Some support groups include church groups or dinner exchanges where several families get together on a routine basis to share meals and socialize.

Any family, whether nuclear, single or blended, is only as strong as the nurturing and warmth it provides.

Legislative report on file at library

Rep. J. P. Compretta has placed on file at the City-County Library a comprehensive report on action taken during the first half of current legislative session.

"A detailed summary of every major House action taken during the first 45 days

Positive attitude needed by citizens

There is no need for Hancock Countians to roll over and play dead when the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant closes.

Yet, if ever there was a need for Hancock Countians to pull together, it is now.

All governmental agencies, as well as all citizens should pool their resources to open jobs to replace those which will be lost.

The loss of 292 jobs in a community of any size, is a severe blow, yet, life must go on.

The families of those who lose the jobs will feel the jolt the most, and the tremors will filter down to every resident.

It was a hardship to the economy of Bay St. Louis when the Enameling Plant closed its doors several years ago.

Some hard work by the right people landed another industry to come in and fill the void of those lost jobs.

As Hancock Countians, we must all have the positive attitude that we will weather this "storm" and provide new employment opportunities.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Today is the big Mardi Gras day for the Krewe of Nereids which is scheduled to roll at 2 p.m.

A lot of preparation has gone into this annual parade by the ladies of the krewe and large crowds are expected.

The parade will form at the Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center, Waveland, travel east to Katie's Kandy Shop, and then west to Our Shopping Center.

The Krewes of Eros and Hancock will follow the Nereids floats, and this should be a large parade.

I hope to see you at the parade this afternoon.

Flower beds are being constructed, water lines laid, and some special trees have been planted at the Hancock County Fitness Trail.

The Fitness Trail continues to take shape, and many of the residents continue to improve their shape.

The track seems to be used by more and more people each week, all exercising the natural way, walking.

In the celebration of Arbor Day, Coast Electric planted three rain birch trees; Bay-Waveland Garden Club planted nine magnolias and the Hancock Women's Club three red maple trees.

Weather has hampered other businesses and groups who are also going to donate trees to the Fitness Trail.

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Club has donated several of the 14 benches which will line the trail.

When the flower beds are completed G.E. Plastics will plant the ones in front with flowers.

The rye grass seeds donated by Hancock Insurance has added a glow of green to the trail during the brisk winter season.

The Fitness Trail resulted from the collective efforts of many folks in the community and is something we will all be very proud of when completed.

The improvements at the trail is coordinated by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Bay-Waveland Garden Club and Hancock County Parks and Recreation Department.

It is not too late for you to help by making a donation to the Fitness Trail, this can be a specific item or a contribution.

If you would like to donate or need further information, contact Libby Milner at the chamber, 467-9048.

The week of February 19-23 has been declared as Severe Weather Week in Mississippi by Governor Ray Mabus, in cooperation with the National Weather Service and the Emergency Management Agency.

It almost appears the week celebrated should have been a week earlier because of the severe weather we have had in recent days.

The special week gives all Mississippians an opportunity to review their preparedness planning for severe weather.

This preparedness is not only for Civil Defense, hospitals, schools, but also for individual citizens.

We in Hancock County are aware of the destruction which can be caused by a hurricane, lightning storms, as well as tornadoes.

Residents who do not have the safety rules for severe weather can receive information from the Civil Defense office located in the rear of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Q. How did the term "National Guard" first get used as a title for the U.S. militia?
A. The 2nd Battalion, 11th New York Artillery adopted the title "National Guard" in honor of Lafayette's celebrated Garde Nationale de Paris. The name was adopted during Lafayette's visit to the U.S. in 1824-25.

Deep budget cuts expected by many state agencies

Even before the Legislature has any idea of how it is going to fund $300 to $500 million in education reforms, there were grim warnings last week that deep budget cuts for other state programs are already in prospect.

Legislative fiscal leaders have begun to look for ways to cut as much as $100 million out of the proposed $1.9 billion general fund budget as the flood of some 275 appropriation bills begins this week.

Not counting what sort of education reform package emerges—probably a pared down version of Gov. Ray Mabus' "BEST" education reform program—the state general fund budget is already "in the red" $60 to $90 million, House Appropriations chairman Charlie Capps of Cleveland believes.

Mabus had proposed spending $500 million over three years to implement his BEST package, which he projected to be funded one-third by a state lottery and two-thirds by normal revenue growth.

The Senate killed Mabus' lottery bill in January and last week passed its own education reform bill that would cost around $330 million. The House is working on a version of the BEST program with a price tag a little over $400 million.

"Funding the BEST bill is not my highest priority," said Capps. "My primary concern is funding the general fund budget—what we already know to date that is needed for ongoing programs."

Capps said the fiscal crunch is such that "we're looking at cuts right now of $60 to $90 million and that could go higher."

Pointing out that 20 of the biggest state agencies account for 92 percent of the general fund budget, "when you make cuts, you can't go to the State Barber Board, you've got to go where the money is."

Some fear that broadscale cuts in major services on the order of those made in 1986 may be in prospect. In the 1986 cuts, $36 million had been whacked out of higher education, dealing a body blow to efforts of the universities to be competitive in faculty salaries.

Two big expenditures not included in the legislative budget—$21 million for school district equity funding and between $31 and $36 million for state employee salary raises—have widespread legislative backing and are now considered "must" items in the 1990-91 budget.

The Legislature's budget is also short around $17 million for mandated increases in Medicaid funding. Another $25 to $35 million in recommended over-budget items have also been identified by the Legislative Budget Office.

In his proposed budget, Mabus had included $21 million for equity funding and $21 million in state employees' salary raises and $10 million more for Medicaid than the legislative budget.

"Our budget covered these items and it was a balanced

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Mobile office to visit Gulf Coast Feb. 21-22

Senator Thad Cochran's mobile office staff will visit the Gulf Coast area on Feb. 21 and 22.

Office hours for constituents and local officials are planned on Wednesday, Feb. 21 in Gulfport, and on Thursday, Feb. 22 in Pascagoula.

On Wednesday, Feb. 21, the Senator's mobile office staff will be at the Harrison County Courthouse in Gulfport from 3 to 4 p.m. for the convenience of citizens in Harrison, Hancock, Pearl River and Stone counties.

On Thursday, Feb. 22, the mobile office will be at the Jackson-George Regional Library Branch, Meeting Room B, in Pascagoula from 10-30 until 11:30 a.m. for the convenience of citizens and officials in Jackson, George, Greene and other Coast area counties.

Residents of the Gulf Coast area who may wish to discuss a problem involving a federal agency, or an issue before the 1990 session of Congress, are invited to stop by and confer with the staff.

The mobile office visits by Cochran's staff to the Gulf Coast are part of the constituent service program he initiated to help provide direct contact between his office and residents and officials at the local level throughout Mississippi.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Supervisors urged not to cut sheriff's budget

To the Editor:

Attention Hancock County Supervisors:

We, the citizens of Hancock County, elected you so you could do a good job for our county. I can not believe this budget denial with the Sheriff's Dept.

Do you all realize exactly what is at stake right now?

You are giving drug dealers, murderers, thieves, rapists, etc. the right to do whatever they want because our sheriff's department has to be cut down.

I know all of you have families, because I know most of you. Suppose your house is being robbed. You live in the county and the Sheriff's Dept. can't get there in time and the burglar kills your family. That would be a shame and a sorrow wouldn't it? Because of a budget problem?

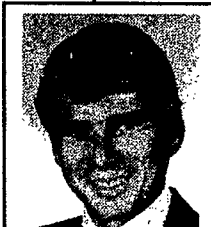

Our Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and his deputies are the finest law enforcers we have. They are there for all of us regardless of our race or our wealth. They treat everyone with respect as long as they are respected. They leave home every day not knowing if they will be able to return.

We need our Sheriff's Dept. more than we need anything else. Maybe if the citizens of Hancock County would get together and let you know how they feel, then maybe you can see the mistake you are making.

I know a lot of people will agree with me. I am with people every day and I know how they feel.

Please reconsider and let's keep all our deputies. We need them. Sheriff Peterson has run a good department for years. Why interfere now?

Sincerely,
Hancock County Resident

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

John Stennis, great role model for a freshman congressman

There is no greater role model for a freshman congressman on the Armed Services Committee than former U.S. Senator John C. Stennis.

Chairman of the powerful Armed Services and Appropriations Committee during his 41-year tenure in Congress, Senator Stennis demonstrated that character, integrity and dedication are essential to being both a leader and public servant.

I felt fortunate to be able to meet with the Senator last Friday during a day-long tour of Mississippi State University. Having the chance to talk with the legendary statesman was truly an honor, and I walked away from the visit impressed and inspired.

A wise man once said that people can be divided into two groups. Those who make things happen and those who watch.

Making things happen. That's what John Stennis is all about. He forged a reputation in the U.S. Senate based on a record of accomplishment. Stennis is a man of substance and action, who does not care much for hoopla or hype.

Stennis was instrumental in bringing the Stennis Space Center to South Mississippi. And he played a crucial role in expanding Keesler Air Force Base, Camp Shelby and the Seabee base, all of which contributed more than $2 billion to South Mississippi's economy in 1988.

No member of the U.S. Senate was given higher marks for integrity than Stennis from Republicans and Democrats alike. And when it came time for the Senator to relax a little and enjoy retirement, he still has not quit.

He is now an executive in residence at Mississippi State where he lectures in political science and history.

It's been said that the greatest leaders leave behind in other men the conviction and will to carry on. While it's debatable that a leadership quality can be taught, Stennis is a great example of what elected officials should be like.

In my own public career, I still have a lot to learn. But who better to take a lesson from than Senator John C. Stennis, the man who wrote the book on leadership and service.

budget," said Mabus Administration spokesman Cliff Treysen. "We still believe our budget was a sound document."

Capps contended that Mabus had balanced his budget "with funny money" including the lottery and several other bills which failed in the Legislature. "He probably had $80 million in revenues that were not realities," Capps said. "We have to live within what is now."

Mabus has put the Legislature in a position of "looking like the obstructionists," in funding the BEST program, Capps said. "He looks good to the public whatever we do. He's winning in the public perception."

While it admitted that some "had choices," meaning budget cuts, Mabus had included $11 million in user fees and cuts, and another $11 million to be captured by eliminating rebates on sales taxes, but both measures died under legislative deadlines.

cuts, may have to be made, the Mabus Administration last week contended that the legislative fiscal leadership has failed to establish priorities for making cuts.

"When you don't have program budgeting, it's hard to determine how the money is being used. We're not convinced all the possibilities have been exhausted in managing the budget," Treysen said.

At least there was one grim reality in the state's fiscal picture on which both the Mabus Administration and legislative fiscal leaders are agreed: This time, there will be no chance of finding any last minute windfall of extra revenue to balance the budget.

That's a bit of sleight of hand lawmakers have often used in the past.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

With Mardi Gras and parade parties claiming interest, many of us are in search of something just a bit different for munching while watching the parade, or for a party of parade-watchers along the route.

Whatever and wherever, the crowd must be fed, however simply or however elegantly you plan to do it; and our area supermarkets are ready and able to help you do it, with specials on many, many, items.

If you opt for fried or barbecued chicken, that picnic staple, you're in luck; and if you choose more elaborate dishes, you're also in luck. I've just sauteed a package of chicken breast I purchased at Jitney Jungle's special price, and as soon as I finish this column, I plan to head back there for another package to stash in the freezer for future special meals.

And don't forget the breast quarters, with wings, of course, on special at Winn-Dixie. Sometimes I broil or saute or bake "as is"; at other times I separate breasts and wings and cook separately. Winn-Dixie also offers whole fryers at a bargain price, to cut up yourself or roast whole. A cold roast chicken is excellent party fare.

And, if you're just looking for a variation from your usual chicken dishes, you might try this one, said to be a favorite from the file of former first lady Nancy Reagan. It's:

BAJA CALIFORNIA CHICK-EN

8 boned chicken breasts
2 cloves garlic, crushed
4 tblsp. olive oil
4 tblsp. tarragon vinegar
2/3 cup dry sherry
Pepper, salt to your taste
Sprinkle the chicken breasts with pepper and salt to taste. Crush the garlic cloves, add the oil and vinegar, and heat the mixture in a skillet. Saute the breasts in this mixture until

APS meeting

Evan A. Willett of Waveland and Barry I. Barker of Long Beach were among a number of faculty and students representing the University of Southern Mississippi's Department of Physics and Astronomy at the annual meeting of the Southeastern Section of the American Physical Society (APS).

"Our faculty and students delivered more than twice as many papers as the combined faculty in the rest of the institutions of higher learning in the state," said Grayson Rayborn, chairman of physics and astronomy at USM.

Rayborn said six students, including four undergraduates, had worked to report and delivered papers during the November meeting—five of them speaking in regular, professional sessions.

During the meeting, Willett presented "Growth of Interface in a Lattice Fluid," Barker presented "Approximations to the Energy Levels Eigenfunctions, and Eigenvalues for a Square Well Potential."

Willett is the son of Cornelius and Takeko Willett of Waveland. Barker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barker of Long Beach.

SHALLOW GRAVE

The year is 1944, Garnet Montrose, grotesquely disfigured by fire at Guadalcanal, is released from a V.A. hospital and returns to isolation on his family's farm in Virginia.

The rest of the world is still at war, but Garnet's house is as silent as the grave.

"In a Shallow Grave," the first work by controversial American novelist James Purdy to be adapted for the screen, will have its television premiere on "American Playhouse" at 10 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 21, on Mississippi ETV.

they are golden brown. Transfer the cooked chicken to a baking dish and pour the sherry over. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes (Eight servings).

I have also cooked chicken this way without boning the breasts, and, if you do not have tarragon vinegar on hand, just use the vinegar you have, and add a bit of minced tarragon if you wish—it's one of my favorite culinary herbs.

And, for a variation on this, try:

TARRAGON CHICKEN

Dust a cut-up frying chicken with flour, and brown the pieces on both sides in olive oil, using a large skillet with a lid. When done, add to the skillet a teaspoon of minced tarragon, a teaspoon of minced parsley, and two minced cloves of garlic, with pepper and salt to taste.

Mix thoroughly the chicken and herbs, and cook for just a few minutes over a slow fire, then add half a glass of dry white wine.

Increase the heat, and shake the pan vigorously. When the wine is reduced by half, cover the skillet and finish cooking the chicken.

(You may vary the recipe by using rosemary in place of tarragon, or using parsley and thyme.)

—From The Food Lover's Garden by Judith Jones.

Reminding us that "February is National Meat Month" and calling attention to meat as "the ultimate protein" National offers a light calf steak sale—shoulder, chuck and round.

These are tasty cooked in a tomato gravy with lots of sliced onions and sliced bell (green) peppers and served with mashed potatoes or rice. And—you'll save on both staples at the special prices.

National also offers quarter-lion pork chops, as does Delchamps, and Jitney Jungle offers pork steaks. For a quick meal, pan fry or braise chops, briefly steam some of the broccoli on special at Delchamps in a bit of water and lemons and serve a rice dish of some sort, perhaps:

SPEEDY SPANISH RICE

1 1/4 cups uncooked white rice
1 1/2 cups chicken broth
1 can (14 1/2 oz.) stewed tomatoes

1 tblsp. butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon oregano
Salt, pepper, cayenne as desired

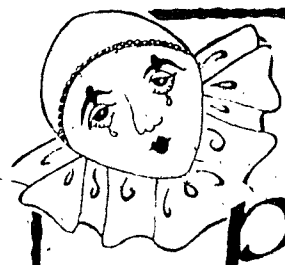

Combine all ingredients in saucepan and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to simmer, cover, and simmer approximately 20 minutes to a half hour or until rice is done. Sprinkle with chopped parsley or chopped green onions. (Six servings.)

And, for that "something sweet", serve a bowl of strawberries on special at National and Winn-Dixie, along with a bowl of sour cream sweetened with brown sugar for dipping the berries.

Other suggestions: Cante-loupe from Jitney Jungle, served au naturel or "a la mode" with a scoop of vanilla ice cream or orange or lime sherbet filling the center.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Who's fooling whom?

No meat on Fridays during Lent? "Do penance!" we are told. "Eat seafood!"

Very obviously, the folks in Rome who crafted that legislation as well as some of the other lenten laws, were grossly ignorant of the culinary tastes and preferences of people along the United States Gulf Coast, Chesapeake Bay and similar areas.

Condemning seafood-loving people to forego meat for seafood is just like throwing poor Brer Rabbit into the briar patch.

"Please don't make us eat seafood during Lent!" must be our earnest plea. "For that matter, please don't condemn us to eat seafood at any time during the year! The ordeal just might be a bit more than we could bear."

Of course, there are those rare and, arguably, unfortunate individuals around the water-rich areas of our country who actually do not like any seafood.

A second group is composed of those who either like only certain seafoods or are allergic to some seafoods.

The third group is comprised of those who, for known or unknown reasons, are allergic to all seafoods.

Clearly, for a large number of Catholics, and for quite possibly a hefty majority, since many inland people also enjoy seafood, we have lenten legislation which is based on false premises, which is not instructional, and which can easily mislead people to believe that penance can mean doing something highly enjoyable.

While penance does not mean torturing oneself on the one hand, it definitely does not mean enjoying oneself on the other.

As far back as I can remember, I always wondered why people ate fish on Friday in order to do something less pleasing to them. Without doubt, a host of people wondered and are still wondering with me.

Perhaps the most amazing thing of all is the fact that, after all these years of the lenten regulations, and after such extensive information on the eating habits and likes of Americans, the U.S. church leaders still insist on substituting seafood for meat.

According to the recommended penance as far as food is concerned, we should eat seafood on the Fridays of Lent. Well, let's see what we can do about that.

How about a scrumptious seafood gumbo for starters? Of course, if you'd like, we can throw in a shrimp or crawfish cocktail or salad to make a foundation for the gumbo and whatever else we can scrape up for the menu.

It can get a little confusing at this point. Since there is but one Friday in each week, how shall we go about choosing between the numerous dishes calculated to tickle our palate?

Take, for instance, the awful choice we might have to make between crawfish etouffee and crawfish bisque. That choice is terribly complicated by a formidable array of various kinds of seafoods, compounded by a variety of preparations.

Try to choose between shrimp creole, oysters Rockefeller, clam chowder, shrimp scampi, barbecued shrimp, fried catfish, stuffed flounder or trout, lobster, blackened redfish, broiled or grilled trout or swordfish, just to name some of our bewildering choices.

Nobody is fooling anybody. We know quite well what penance means. We don't need any legislation to explain to us what it is to deprive oneself of something or to put some burden of positive deeds on one's shoulders. All that matters is why we do it.

It does not even seem strange to seafood lovers that one can do some tough penance and give glory to God by depriving oneself of seafood. The last world in penance is: customize your penance.

Tolbert honored at Louisiana College

Diamondhead resident Malcolm O. Tolbert was recently honored as a Distinguished Alumni at Louisiana College in Pineville, La.

A 1952 alumni, Tolbert received a plaque and framed citation at the annual alumni meeting Feb. 17 in the Walker Student Center. His induction brings to 72 the number of alumni honored for excellence in their fields and loyalty to the college.

A pastor, missionary and professor, Tolbert is a graduate of New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary where he received a bachelor of divinity and a doctorate of theology. He continued postgraduate study at the University of Munich in Germany.

For 11 years, Tolbert served as a missionary in Brazil, where he was executive secretary of the Baptist State Convention of Sao Paulo, a board of trustees member of the Portuguese Language and Orientation School and professor at the Equatorial Brazil Baptist Theological Seminary.

Following his return from Brazil, Tolbert was a professor of New Testament at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary for 15 years. He is a professor emeritus of Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest, N.C., where he taught New Testament interpretation for 10 years.

MALCOLM TOLBERT

He has served as pastor and interim pastor of numerous churches in Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and North Carolina. He has authored nine books and numerous articles and Sunday School materials. He has most recently served as interim pastor in Houma, La.

Tolbert and his wife, the former Nell Sills, have four children, Sharon Roppolo, Ellen Bandsma, Dr. Laren Tolbert and Anita Massengill.

ASCS reminds farmers to file for payments

"Farmers who have sold or plan to sell any shorn wool or unshorn lambs or mohair this year should turn in their sales receipts to be eligible for price support payments under the National Wool Act," said Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director for the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS office.

Farmers who have a record of their wool and mohair sales are eligible for payments only if the sales are reported to the ASCS office.

Gennin said the quantity sold does not affect the eligibility. However, sales slips should contain the date of shearing (if possible), the month and date of sales, number of head shorn, pounds of wool (grease basis) or mohair sold, and net proceeds.

Sales slips for lambs also must show the live weight and state that the lambs were unshorn.

He also reminds wool producers that "marketing charges must be itemized on the sales documents, other than for sales at a farm, ranch, or local shipping point."

"If transportation charges are not shown on the sales receipt, producers will be required to furnish this information when they turn in sales receipts and file for a payment.

The ASCS official said transportation charges will be deducted from the sales document even if the producer sells through a wool pool, with or without a manager, or through any other agent.

The location for which the net proceeds are computed also must be shown on the sales document.

Shorn wool and mohair payments are based on percentage of each producer's returns from sales.

Rocks advance to South State playoffs

For the first time since 1957, the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will advance to the South State basketball playoffs, to be played this year at South Pike High School in Magnolia beginning next Tuesday.

Although the Long Beach Bearcats outlasted the Rocks 83-82 in five overtimes Thursday in the District VIII 4-A championship game at Hancock North Central, there were no real losers. Both teams will advance to the playoffs.

The first-place Cats will play their first playoff game at home; the Rocks will have to travel to play South Pike, the first-place team in District VII.

Rock-A-Chaw Shannon Garrett was named the Most Valuable Player in District VIII 4-A and Rock head basketball coach Chuck Genin was named Coach of the Year. Garrett, along with teammates Greg Schruoff and Chris Perronne, were selected as members of the All-District team.

In Thursday's championship game against Long Beach, Perronne led all scorers with 26, while Garrett added 23. Cedric Smith pumped in 19, with five three-pointers, and Schruoff contributed nine points, 10 assists and 10 steals.

Long Beach pulled out the win in the fifth overtime on a foul shot by Craig Stallings.

"We had several opportunities to win the game," Genin said, "but we just couldn't convert. But it was a great spectator sport," he continued. "Five overtimes can really excite the crowd. Our kids held up well and never quit. They handled the pressure well."

On their way to the championship game, the Rock-A-Chaws felled the host Hancock North Central Hawks 96-69, hitting on 31 of 33 free-throw attempts.

Garrett led all scorers with 31 points, hitting on 10 of 12 attempts in the first half. Per-ronne chipped in 22, with 14 of those coming in the second half. Schruoff added 14, three of those on a steal and long shot at the first-half buzzer, giving the Rocks a 48-33 advantage.

At the free throw line, the Rocks were hot with 19 straight, two misses, and another 12 straight.

For the Hawks, Regan Ladner hit for 24, with five on-the-money three-pointers. Leo Ack-er added 15 and Dorian Acker shot for 11.

Financial aid deadline is March 15

Under the U.S. Southern Mississippi Student Seeking Financial Aid Act of 1990, the 1990-91 school year financial aid deadline is March 15.

Students who submit all required applications on or before the date will receive priority consideration for financial aid, although funding is not ensured.

Students who complete applications after the March 15 deadline will be awarded as funds are available.

For more information, contact the USM Financial Aid Office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at (601) 266-4774 or toll-free in Mississippi at 1-800-CALL-USM.

The Financial Aid Office is located in Room 101 of the Student Services Building on the Hattiesburg campus.

USM/Gulf Coast students should contact the Gulf Park Financial Aid Office.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1990-1B

SECTION
B

'That's Entertainment' portrayed by Krewe of Kamehameha

Special to the Echo
By Bud and Liz Barnes

The Krewe of Kamehameha (alias the Diamondhead Boaters Association) reveled at their annual Ball Masque on Feb. 9 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

The festivities began with a royal procession led by the king's consort, Tom Freidian, and the queen's lady-in-waiting, Lola Mullinix.

The entrance of King Akua Kai XVI, Roland B. Boatright, and Queen Nina Cotton in their royal blue and white velvet attire was truly magnificent.

Their long trains were kept evenly displayed by the grand-nieces of the queen, Lucy, 11, and Valerie, 8, daughters of Cathy and Randy Pope of Hattiesburg.

Introducing the royal party with pertinent deference was master of ceremonies Bud Freeman. Loyal subjects paid due homage during the procession around the ballroom.

Adhering to tradition, King Akua Kai made the following royal proclamation:

"Ladies and gentlemen, crowned heads of the Coast, loyal Kamehamehans, friends, neighbors, relatives, King Akua Kai XVI proclaims that:

"(1) all golf scrambles shall end in a tie,

"(2) all persons attending bridge parties shall be in accord with all other persons attending said bridge parties,

"(3) all fishermen leaving Diamondhead shall return with their ice chests filled—with fish,

"(4) all party goers attending parties south of I-10 shall gather at the Yacht Club ten minutes before party time, then proceed in convoy to their destination, and

"(5) all party goers attending parties north of I-10, you are on your own.

"This is the king's proclamation—so let it be written—so let it be done!"

Toasts to the new king and queen were followed by leading their subjects in dancing. All then enjoyed a dinner fit for a king.

In honor of His Majesty King Akua Kai, his Queen, and their loyal subjects, The Mystic Krewe of Kamehameha presented "High School Sock Hop" reflecting the Krewe of Kamehameha's 1990 Mardi Gras theme, "That's Entertainment."

Produced and directed by Missy Marshall, this hilarious time warp back to the 50's was enacted by the "Ship of Fools Players," 25 faithful subjects for whom most of their actual bobby soxing days were in the late 30's or early 40's.

Wearing costumes of the era and more hair than most have seen for many years, they exuberantly lip-synched songs recorded by artists of that era.

These "student shenanigans" were emceed by Don Marshall, while Bob Calvey served as the Boaters' High School principal, and guest Benny Mistretta represented the Land High School (Krewe of Diamondhead).

Dick Alves, a fine singer in his own right, "Rock(ed) Around The Clock."

Bob Keel and Les Stafford hardly looked the part in "I'm Not A Juvenile Delinquent."

Lee Freidian, Nell Dennis and Bernice Johnson were very convincing in "Stop In The Name of Love."

Blanche Devine, Pat Stafford and Jean Keen were all smiles with "My Boyfriend's Back." Bob Calvey set a new school trend with "Rock-A-Bye Baby With a Dixie Melody."

Barbara Doherty, Mary Jo Keel and E. J. Smith honored Commodore Jack Willson as "Leader of the Pack."

Don Marshall wanted to know, "Who Put The Bomp In The Bomp-She-Bomp?"

Mike Doherty and Tom Ballard mimicked "Mr. Bass Man."

And as a finale, Cecile Ballard and Doris Willson taunted guest Benny Mistretta with "He's a Rebel."

It was very obvious that the participants were having as much fun, if not more, than the audience.

Credits for the arrangements and decorations go to ball chairwoman Lola Mullinix, assisted by her decorating committee, Laura Americo, Gloria Barber, Ronnie Bankston, Pat and Jesse Morgan, Bill Mullinix, Mary Rivers, Verna Terry and Bill Mullinix.

The stage backdrop included an authentic Hawaiian thatched hut (labored over long and hard by Lou Cotton) and a hula dancer painted by Nina Cotton.

Music for the royal procession and for dancing throughout the evening was by the Billy Fane Band, a favorite of the boaters.

The report on the January Coronation Ball of the Krewe of Kamehameha incorrectly identified the talented duo who entertained us with their song and dance routine. The "Flash Sisters of Broadway" actually were Geannie Boudreaux and Madeline Prima.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular monthly meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 was held on Monday, Feb. 12 at the Legion home.

Margaret Prevou, president, opened the meeting; the color-bearers, Hazel Wohlschlegel and Christie LaFontaine, advanced the colors; chaplain Ursula Favre read the prayers, followed by members reciting the Pledge of Allegiance and the Preamble.

Prevou asked the members to assemble at the charter to pray for deceased member Carmelita Saucier. While she and the chaplain were saying the prayers, Susan Piazza draped the charter in black.

The regular order of business was resumed with the secretary Janet Jaime calling the roll call of officers, followed by the reading of the previous month's minutes which were accepted. Bobbye Tomlinson, treasurer, then gave her report on the financial status of the unit.

The various committees were then called upon to tell of their activities and progress.

Membership: Susan Piazza reported membership was 100 percent and showed the two prizes the unit had received for their efforts.

Girls' State: Anna Gayout mentioned that it will be held during June 17-22 in Hattiesburg and they are making up the list of candidates. More later on this project.

Community service: Anna Brehm said her committee is working in many areas of service to the community.

Public relations: Roslyn Weathers told of visits she and Oris Planchard make to the Hotel Reed Nursing Center.

Chaplain: Ursula Favre said the month has been very busy because of sickness, and many get-well and sympathy cards were sent.

Emergency: Oris Planchard spoke of the need of raising money for this committee.

Puppy: Christie LaFontaine said that the selection of the two puppy queens has been made.

Plans are in the making for the annual American Legion birthday party to be held on March 9 at the home.

Aime spoke on "Americanism and what it means to all of us." It was an enlightening 15 minutes of remembering incidents of our past which many people have forgotten or put aside without realizing they were doing so.

Lou Wilkerson thanked everyone who helped make the po-boy sandwich sale a great success.

The meeting was then concluded with the retiring of the colors, the closing prayers, and the president saying a few words.

Refreshments were served.

Gulf Coast Writers Association

Due to popular demand, The Gulf Coast Writers Association will have opening readings and critiques at their next meeting, Feb. 22 in Parker Hall, William Carey College on the Coast. The meeting starts at 7 p.m.

Members and interested writers are encouraged to bring completed or in-progress works, not to exceed ten minutes. Critiquing will follow each reading. Marketing and publishing tips will be shared.

Invitations are extended to everyone seriously interested in the art of writing to attend the all-day annual conference, March 24 at the Gulf Park Campus, USM.

Final plans for the conference will be discussed at the meeting, and all members are urged to attend this important session. The group will not meet in March because of the conference.

The GCWA is a non-profit organization open to those, published or unpublished, who want to write creatively in any literary form. Goals are to provide encouragement, information, publicity and support to writers in all fields on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Gulf Coast Writers Association meets the fourth Thursday of each month. For more information on the conference or the organization, call 863-8190 or 868-9485.

MORE COAST. LESS COST.

With Cellular South's new UltraCell Network.SM

As the first cellular telephone company on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, Cellular South has always offered you the best in cellular service. Now we're offering you even more of the best, by linking you into the largest cellular "roaming" network in the South — the exclusive UltraCell Network.SM

This allows you to use your cellular telephone in all of the following cities, without a $2.00 daily roaming charge.

In Louisiana: Baton Rouge, Houma, Lafayette and New Orleans.

In Alabama: Mobile.

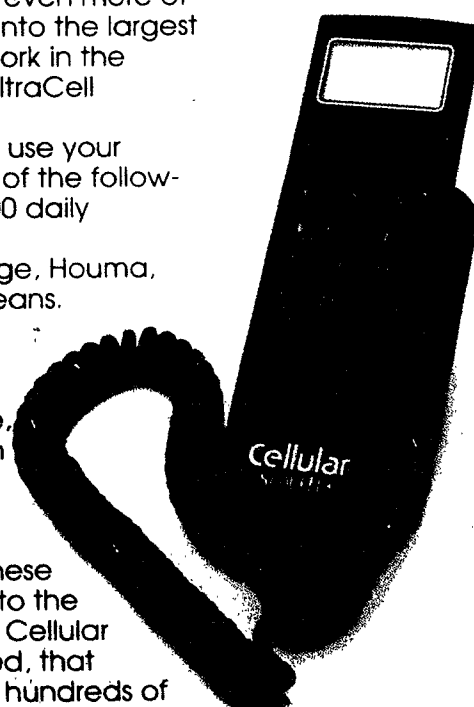

In Florida: Pensacola.

And in Mississippi: Jackson (plus, of course, our existing coverage in Harrison, Hancock, Jackson and Stone Counties).

Your savings in these cities is a new addition to the "roaming agreements" Cellular South has always offered, that provide local access in hundreds of cities throughout the U.S. and Canada. No other cellular telephone company in Mississippi can offer you this amount of coverage at these low rates.

More coast. Less cost to you. It adds up to the most comprehensive system available. Because only Cellular South makes it as easy to keep in touch when you roam, as when you're at home.
